

May 2025: GLOBAL MARKET INDEX PERFORMANCE

Global equities surged in May. The S&P 500 returned 6.3%, the MSCI ACWI IMI increased 5.8%, and developed non-U.S. equities (MSCI EAFE) rose 4.6%. In the U.S., growth stocks outperformed value. The Bloomberg Aggregate Bond Index returned -0.7% and U.S. High Yield returned 1.7% for the month. U.S. CPI slowed its advance, as the year-over-year inflation rate decreased from 2.4% through March to 2.3% as of April 2025.

Equity markets rallied in May as delays in planned tariff hikes and advancements in US trade negotiations with Europe lifted consumer sentiment. Led by the S&P 500 and strong outperformance from the technology sector, the US outperformed most of its global peers with strong results from small cap stocks and growth stocks. Emerging markets continued to perform well, supported by returns from Taiwan and Korea. After continuing to experience intra-month volatility with fiscal concerns in the US and rising global bond yields, bond markets later recovered at month-end as the easing of trade tensions restored confidence.
